

Top jobs are dominated by people who went to private schools

JUST 7% OF CHILDREN ARE PRIVATELY EDUCATED, BUT THE PROPORTION OF PEOPLE IN TOP PROFESSIONS WHO WENT TO PRIVATE SCHOOLS IS MUCH HIGHER

What does this mean?

Professional careers make up 42% of our workforce and are expected to increase over the next decade to 46%. Those working in the top jobs hold the greatest influence in our society and therefore should represent the whole of society, not just an elite few.

Explaining the data

These figures are provided by research from the Sutton Trust – a summary of findings can be found at <http://www.suttontrust.com/news/fast-facts/>